Grevis Beard is an accredited mediator, and skilled investigator and trainer. He brings a balanced, interpersonal approach to conflict resolution.

Over the past decade, Grevis has worked both locally and internationally in complaint resolution and discrimination.

Grevis' career has encompassed legal and strategic advice roles, including working as a solicitor at a major commercial law firm and advocacy work as a barrister.

More recently he has provided strategic advice in equal opportunity law and best practice, and dealt with a range of discrimination and disciplinary case-work, at the Victorian Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission and a State government department.

From his experience of conducting litigation and mediations, Grevis is particularly aware of the importance of dealing effectively and quickly with all the dynamics of a dispute.

Adept at communicating with a wide variety of audiences in the public and private sectors, Grevis is a sought-after trainer. His personable style ensures that participants understand and engage in the presentation.

Grevis' approach is practical, user-friendly and authoritative. He provides effective and timely responses to workplace quandaries.
